

WAR DEVELOPMENTS HOLD STAGE CENTER ON STOCK MARKET

Traders Apparently wait Receipt of Germany's Answer to the American Communication Before Entering the Market.

NEW YORK, May 26.—That the market remains almost entirely under the influence of war developments was again clearly demonstrated. Cables of the accident to an American ship off the Irish coast were sufficient to give prices a sharp setback, from which they made only partial recovery. Quite apart from this incident, the market was dull and heavy. With the approach of the time for the receipt of the government's reply from Germany, the traders show an increasing disposition to shelve from now commitments, particularly on the buying side. On the other hand it is held out that the condition of the market offers few attractions to short interests. War issues fell from one to three points, while Standard shares declined from one to two and one-half points. Canadian Pacific lost the maximum amount. In the final dealings heaviness followed the selling movement of General Motors.

Total sale 410,000 shares. Copper were less stable on rumors another shading of the price of the metal. Total par value, $1,735,000. Panama Coupon 7's declined seven-eighths on call.

BOSTON, May 26.—The market was unsettled today owing to the blowing up of the Nebraska and no one seemed to be able to judge just how serious it was. In the face of an outlook of uncertainty, we think the market acted remarkably well and still advised purchasers on all weak spots. Old Dominion declared a dividend of $1.50 per share. Total sales New York, 424,999.

BRITISH BATTLESHIP TRIUMPH
VICTIM OF SUBMARINE
LONDON, May 26.—The British battleship Triumph has been sunk in the Dardanelles. This official announcement was made tonight. The disaster is described in a brief statement by the Admiralty which says that while operating in support of Australian and New Zealand forces on the shore of Gallipoli peninsula yesterday, the Triumph was torpedoed by a submarine and sunk shortly afterwards. A majority of the officer and men including the captain and commander, are reported saved. The submarine escaped.

THE CAUSE OF RINGWORM
Ringworm is not caused by a wart or an insect parasite, but by a vegetable growing on the skin. This vegetable is a low form of fungus or fungus, known by botanists as trichophyton, of which there are several varieties, each with its own Latin name and each having a special part of the body as its favorite soil.

In an article in the Medical Record, Dr. Charles E. Pabst, associate dermatologist of the Brooklyn Hospital dispensary, describes the several forms of this annoying disease. It is very contagious, but no one who is clean and neat in his habits is in any danger from it, because the tiny fungus can't take root in the skin unless it is allowed to remain there undisturbed. This accounts for the fact that ringworm is so seldom found on the scalp of adults, whereas it is a common occurrence among children who do not brush their hair frequently.

Dr. Pabst says that more than 9 percent of the hospital cases are children who usually contract it from the dog, the horse or the cat, in which the same disease is called mange. It is also frequently transmitted by children using combs, brushes or towels in public places or in each other's homes.

"The face, neck and hands are the usual sites of the lesion, which begins as a small, easily patch, usually pink in color and having a slightly elevated border. These patches tend to spread peripherally and heal in the center, thereby producing the characteristic annular or ring shape. The patches are usually few in number, rarely numerous.

"The treatment is chiefly local. Tonics consisting of arsenic, iron, a quinine may be administered if required. The clothing must be boiled and brushes, combs, and towels should be disinfected. Locally, the skin should be thoroughly cleansed with soap and water. Avoid medicated soaps. I have found a 19 percent solution of salicylic acid in olive oil of the most beneficial. Whatever agent is used to destroy the fungus must be used persistently, and the patient should be kept under observation for some time after the disease is apparently cured in order that treatment may be resumed promptly in case of recurrence.

If it appears on the scalp the treatment is the same. Another form of it is "barber's itch," while the common
